

quality of her harvest. Assiniboia more sparsely settled, makes a proportionately good showing, and Alberta is not only increasing the number and quality of the beeves shipped to Europe, but is importing young steers from the East to be fattened on the rich grasses of the country, which ripen early and remain jujey and sustaining throughout the moderate winter of those plateaux. Now a new and extensive area has been thrown open to homesteading. Two railways been recently opened into the Saskatchewan country, and those who have been farming in the neighborhood of the old Hudson's Bay posts claim, and apparently with some justice, that their country surpasses even Manitoba and eastern Assinibola; that it is the garden of the Northwest. It is no wonder that Eastern Canadians are selling out to take advantage of the free land to be obtained in these rich districts. The investigating parties that have been sent to spy out the land have reported so favorably upon it, that the desire to obtain a homestead in the Western Can-adian Provinces is spreading far beyond the limits of Canada itself. There are a number of delegates in the west preparing the way for companies of intending immigrants who will move in the spring, and it is becoming more and more evident that Canada west of Lake Superior is becoming the heart of the Dominion, and that Winnipeg, though not the official capital, will be the most important city.

to Chill—The Situation Con WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—There can be little doubt that the developments of the last few days in the investigation now being conducted at San Francisco by Judge Advocate-General Remy into the attack upon the Baltimore's crew, the publication of the testimony in the Shields case and the ugly demonstra-tion at Valparaiso against the Yorktown's gig crew, have created a very uneasy feeling. Senators and repre-sentatives, who have all along derided the idea of serious results following the Chilian correspondence and have had the greatest confidence that Chili would soon tender an ample apology and make reparation for the misdeeds of her citizens, are now willing to admit privately that the situation is full of the gravest difficulties.

Heretofore it | that of the claimant's claim. has been customary whenever a matter of the smallest public interest to the subject of diplomatic correspondence information in the possession of the state department in relation to the But no senator or member has yet been venturesome enough to introduce a resolution calling for the Chilian correspondence although it has been apparent to all of them that the relations of the United States with Chili have been strained nearly to the point of rupture within the last few weeks.

The very gravity of the situation ap-pears to have had a repressible effect upon congress. The republicans are ndisposed to embarrass the president by calling for the correspondence, having in view his promise to transmit it to congress at an early day.' The democrats are fearful of interfering with the negotiations and thereby precipitating trouble which may then be chargeable to their action. Of course the president might decline to accede to a request for the correspondence, as he has done in other cases, on the ground that it would not be expedient or in the public interest to publish it, but he would find it hard to do so after the strong expressions upon the subject contained in his annual message. So the situation in congress is one of auxious waiting in the hope that the president will soon relieve the general desire for information.

Foundered at Sea.

LONDON, Jan. 14.-A dispatch was received here vesterday from Hong Kong stating that the steamer Mieloo has arrived at that port bringing intelligence of the loss of the steamer Namchow, off Cupichipoint. The Meifoo reports that the shaft of the Namchow was broken, supposedly at the point where it emerges from the hull. It allowed the water to run into the shaft alley and make its way to the engine room, and thence into the fire room. The steamer's fires were soon extinguished and she settled rapidly. The water continued to pour in, and in a short time the vessel foundered. The steamer was employed in trading locally in the China seas and she had on board a very large number of Chinese passengers. She sank so rapidly that it was hard times that have prevailed in Italy, impossible to launch her boats, even and especially in Rome, the authorities ried with her 414 people, every one of whom was drowned.

"SAND CREEK" MASSACRE.

An Old Historic Case in the Court of WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.-An interesting case is pending in the court of claims. It is brought by Col. John M. Chivington, of Denver, against the United States and the Sioux nation of Indians for Indian depredations com-mitted in April, 1867, in Wyoming. The claimant alleges that the Indians stole 392 head of oxen and twenty-three head of horses, of the value of $32,850. He asks judgment against the government and Indians. Assistant Attorney-General L. W. Colby, in charge of the defense of this class of cases, sets up a ounter claim and set-off in behalf of the Indians, alleging the massacre of a large number of Indians, men, women and children, at Sand Creek, Col., by Col Chivington and his regiment or November 27, 1864, and the destruction of property belonging to said Indians One ominous sign is the inactivity of to an amount far exceeding in value

IMPORTANT DECISION.

The United States Supreme Court Reverses Judge Gresham in the Noted Counselman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 .- It has not become settled that witnesses cannot be compelled to testify in any criminal cases where the answers might tend to criminate them in any way or subject them to possible future prosecution. It is held that the fifth amendment to the constitution, giving persons the right to refuse to answer questions which might be against them in criminal cases, must be construed in its broadest sense. Such is the effect of the decision of the United States supreme court in the celebrated inter-state commerce ease of Charles Counselman, appellant vs. Frank Hitchcock, marshal of the United States for the northern district of Illinois. The supreme court says Judge Gresham's order was erroneous and that Counselman cannot be compelled to testify. It is said the effect of the decision will seriously hamper the inter-state commerce act. The court's decision was unanimous.

The Counselman case had its origin in an investigation begun in 1890 by the grand jury of the United States district court for northern Illinois into certain alleged violations of the inter-state commerce act by the officers and agents of preacher and the presiding elder for the Rock Island, the Buriington and that church in the South Platte county the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City the Rock Island, the Burlington and railway companies. Counselman, the great grain broker, was asked whether he had obtained from railroads coming to Chicago from points outside the state pointed by the president to examine into this matter, consisting of Gen. W. T. Sherman, N. J. Taylor, John B. Hendand Sherman, N. J. Taylor, John B. Hendand Similar Questions as to whether or not he had received rebates, drawbacks H. Terry and others. A congressional or commissions from specially named committee was appointed, after much railroads, was that he declined to answer on the ground that it might tend to criminate him. The grand jury reported the refusal to the district court, Wade. A military commission also in- and it found that Counselman's excuses were insufficient and directed him to answer. He still refusing, the court adjudged him in contempt, fined him $500 an i costs and directed the marshal to take him into cust dy and hold him until he should have answered the questions asked and others of similar

After further proceedings the circuit court, Judge Gresham delivering the opinion, discharged a writ of habeas corpus it had issued to Counselman pending its decision, and made an order sustaining the district court. From Judge Gresham's order the appeal in this court was prosecuted an I Counselman meantime admitted to bail. Counsel for the witness (appellant) besides urging the plea that the witness was protected by the fifth amendment to the constitution from answering any questions which might tend to criminate him in any case, also attacked the right of the grand jury to proceed in such investigations.

The court, in its opinion, rendered by Justice Blatchford, says, however, that longed trouble, together with the Mian- as men killed and scalped, their ears it does not find it necessary to consider any other than the point raised under the constitution as to the privileges of witnesses. It is broadly contended, says the opinion, that a witness is not entitled to plead the privilege of silence except in a criminal case against him self, but such is not the language of the constitution. Its provision is that no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. This provision must have a broad construction in favor of the right which it was intended to secure. The matter under investigation by the grand jury was a criminal matter, and the reason given by Counselman for his refusal was that his answers might tend to criminate him. His apprehension was that the answers might show that he had committed a crime against the inter-state commerce act, for which he Secretary of the Navy:

VALPARAISO, Jan. 9.—Yesterday afternoon might be prosecuted. His answers, my gig, while lying off the landing place waiting. therefore, would be testimony against pelled to give them in a criminal case. It was impossible that the meaning of the constitutional provision could only be that a person should not be compelled to be a witness in a criminal prosecution against himself. The object was to insure that a person should not be compelled, when acting as a witness in an investigation, to give testimony which might tend to show that himself had committed a crime The privilege is limited to crimical matters, but it is as broad as the mischief against which it seeks to guard. The court then takes up the contention that, the investigation before the grand jury was not a criminal case, but solely to ascertain whether a crime had been committed, and it reaches the conclusion that the questions asked Counselman and his relation to the inquiry show that it was such a case as entitled him to invoke the pretection of the constitution.

The court, therefore, rules that Counselman was entitled to refuse to ans wer and directs that the judgment of the circuit court be revised and the case remanded, with direction to dis charge Counselman from custody.
